

CONTENTS

Introduction	x
1. International Social Work	1
Social Work	1
The Global Spread and Organization of Social Work	4
International Social Work	27
Conclusion	32
2. The Integrated-Perspectives Approach to International Social Work	35
The Global Perspective	38
The Human Rights Perspective	42
The Ecological Perspective	46
The Social Development Perspective	49
The Integrated-Perspectives Approach as a Whole	53
The Integrated-Perspectives Approach and Existing Social Work Theories	55
The Application of the Integrated-Perspectives Approach to International Social Work	56
Conclusion	64
3. The Global Context of International Social Work	67
Introduction	67
The Global Social Problems Context	68
The Organizational Context	76
The Ideological Context	91
The Emerging Policy Context: The Emergence of Global Social and Economic Policy and of International Law, and the Significance of These for International Social Work Practice	97
Conclusion	101

4. Basic Programs and Strategies for International Social Work	105
Introduction	105
Empowerment	106
Capacity Building	114
Self-Help and Self-Reliance	118
Enhancing Social Integration or Social Cohesion	123
Income Generation	129
Community Development	136
Conclusion	142
5. The Field of Development: Background and Issues	145
Global Development Since 1945: The Various Paths to Development	147
Local-Level Development	174
Conclusion	177
6. The Field of Development: Programs and Strategies	181
Local-Level Development	182
Goals and Strategies Pertaining to Local-Level Development	189
Key Strategies and Programs Appropriate to Local-Level Development	197
The Place for Integrated Comprehensive Programs	214
Conclusion	218
7. The Field of Poverty: Background and Issues	221
Perspectives on Poverty: The Integrated-Perspectives
Approach and Poverty	222
Global Poverty: Current Dimensions and Trends	224
Global Poverty: The Various Types or Facets of Poverty	228
Globalization and Poverty	229
The Poverty of the United Nations' List of Least Developed Countries	233
Globally Induced Poverty	236
Poverty and the Development Process	239
Subsistence Poverty	242
Rural Poverty	242
Urban Poverty	245
Poverty and Specific Population Categories	248
Consequential Poverty	253
Definitions and Forms of Poverty	258
Conclusion	262
8. The Field of Poverty: Programs and Strategies	265
Poverty Alleviation in Context	266
A Model of Poverty Alleviation for International Social Work	269
Poverty Alleviation Programs and Strategies Used in
International Social Work	277
Conclusion	289

9. The Field of Conflict and Postconflict Reconstruction:
Background and Issues	293
The Integrated-Perspectives Approach and Conflict and Peace Issues	295
The Extent and Nature of Modern Conflict	296
The Role of the United Nations	300
The Role of Global Civil Society	301
The Postconflict Response	301
The Postconflict Situation and the Postconflict Reconstruction Agenda	303
The Humanitarian Aid Debate	317
Conclusion	330
10. The Field of Conflict and Postconflict Reconstruction:
Programs and Strategies	333
Implementing the Comprehensive Postconflict Agenda	334
Some Key Areas of International Social Work in the Postconflict Situation	340
Delivering Psychosocial Programs	340
Rebuilding Communities	348
Securing and Maintaining Peace and Promoting Reconciliation	354
Conclusion	364
11. The Field of Migration and Labor Migration:
Background and Issues	367
The Integrated Perspectives Approach to Migration	368
Global Migration	371
Labor Market Migration	375
Migrant Workers	378
Irregular Workers	384
Trafficked Persons	387
Conclusion	390
12. The Field of Displacement and Forced Migration:
Background and Issues	393
Forced Migration: The Presenting Situation and Its Background	394
The Nature of Forced Migration in the Contemporary World	394
Forced Migration Movements and Numbers in Recent Times	401
A Critical Analysis of the Forced Migration Situation	409
Specific Aspects of International Social Work's Involvement in Forced Migration Situations	413
Conclusion	421
13. The Field of Migration: Programs and Strategies	423
Labor Migration	424
Displacement and Forced Migration	430
A General Overview of Social Work Programs in Forced Migration Situations	431

Some Specific Programs and Strategies for Responding to Various Forced Migration Situations	436
Humanitarian Aid and Its Distribution	436
Programs Humanizing Existing Conditions	437
Trauma Counseling Programs	439
Support Programs	444
Social and Recreational Programs	445
Children's Education and Psychosocial Programs	447
Services for Refugee Women	451
Family Reunion Programs	454
Repatriation Programs	455
Integration Programs	464
Human Rights Programs	466
Legal Programs	467
Community Development Programs	468
Conclusion	470
14. International Social Work With Specific Populations	473
Street Children	474
Child Laborers	488
Orphans and the HIV/AIDS Crisis	494
Child Soldiers	503
Youth in Developing Countries	505
Elderly Persons in Developing Countries	508
Persons With Disability in Developing Countries	510
Conclusion	513
15. International Organizations: Roles for Social Workers and Preparation of Social Workers for International Social Work	517
Introduction	517
International Organizations	518
Roles for Social Workers in International Organizations	531
Preparation of Social Workers for International Social Work Practice	534
Conclusion	542
16. Future Challenges for International Social Work	545
The Way Ahead for International Social Work	546
Changes Required to Social Work Education	550
Changes Required to Social Work Practice	562
Careers in International Social Work: Social Work Graduates'
Response to International Social Work	566
The Global Organization of Social Work	569
Conclusion	571

Appendix A: International Federation of Social Workers (IFSW)
International Association of Schools of Social Work (IASSW)	573
Appendix B: Acronyms	578
Appendix C: Useful Websites	581
References	585
Index	609
About the Authors	623